- 1. Vocational Assessment: The backbone of a Personal Injury claim; essential where there may be dispute as to residual earning capacity. Includes:
 - face-to-face interview with the Plaintiff
 - analysis of medical and rehab reports
 - current labour market conditions
 - assessment of vocational options, if any
 - review of physical capacities
 - probability of lifetime employment
- 2. Forensic Accountant's Report: Proceeds from the Vocational Assessment to quantify the claim. May examine more than one future earnings scenario. Expertise in wage and salary earners, self-employed, small business reconstruction and loss of profits analysis.
 Covers: • past loss • interest • future loss • superannuation

1 and 2 above combine to present strong, complementary reports proving loss of earning capacity.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPIST REPORTS, INCLUDING ACCOUNTANT'S COSTINGS

- 3. Activities of Daily Living (G-v-K) Report: Usually requires a home visit. Comprehensive report on needs for personal care and assistance before, during and following injury. Includes analysis of changing life stages. Covers therapeutic requirements, equipment needs and quality of life.
- 4. Life Care Plan: Addresses profound and catastrophic cases where claimant cannot live independently. In addition to above, considers the role, needs and aging of family carers, respite and vacations, home modifications and varying needs in different life stages.
- 5. Day In the Life DVD: Provides a visual representation of a typical day for someone with a catastrophic injury. The DVD can be used along side either our Activities of Daily Living or Life Care Plan reports and will serve to provide visual evidence of the details outlined in our reports.

OT reports, combined with Worklife Assessment and incorporating Forensic Accountant's costings, represent a complete suite of documents evidencing and quantifying injury claims.
